Congratulations to the 2014 Award Recipients

Another interesting year has gone by for Madrone, and we've had many wonderful activities: birding opportunities, fun events for adults and children, excellent and entertaining programs, habitat restoration, research, and successes in the area of conservation. Madrone is fortunate that it has members who are willing to step forward when the going gets tough, and it has been a very tumultuous year. It is unusual for Madrone to give out so many annual awards, but this year reflects the dynamic activities which took place during the lawsuits against Caltrans. And now we honor some of those members who have made outstanding contributions to our chapter.

The Evalyn and Les Bowen Award – Gordon Beebe

In 1967 it was the countless hours and abundant energy from Evalyn Bowen that launched the new Chapter, the Madrone Audubon Society. Recognizing that same energy and involvement, Gordon Beebe is the recipient of the Bowen Award, established in 1988. Gordon's contributions include helping in the update of Madrone's website, followed by time-consuming hours interacting with the web designer while maintaining the current website. He also stepped into a coordinator's position for the Breeding Bird Atlas update. As a Bird Walk leader, Gordon's low-key, informative approach has helped beginning birders feel comfortable on bird walks amidst experienced birders. Gordon has a deep commitment and appreciation of birds, wildlife, and nature.

Bewick's Wren Award - Tom McCuller

The Bewick's Wren Award, named for the bird that is Madrone's logo, was established in 1991 to acknowledge individuals who have given long-time, exceptional service to the chapter. In 2014 we recognize Tom McCuller as this individual. For many years Tom has planned and led Madrone's mid-week bird walks. He is knowledgeable, kind, and patient. Every trip with him is a learning experience. Last year he took the birders on an overnight trip to the Sacramento National Wildlife Refuges. Tom planned the route, selected the motel, arranged a restaurant, made maps for participants, and made sure everyone had a walkie-talkie in the car to communicate sightings.

The Bentley-Smith Award – Veronica Bowers and Helen Heal

Madrone Audubon Society instituted the Bentley-Smith Award in 2002. The award is given to recognize a Madrone member for contributions to the protection and enhancement of the environment through education and/or conservation activity in the community. This year we present the award to two individuals, Veronica Bowers and Helen Heal.

Veronica has had many roles in Madrone: leading the then-named Pee-Wee (Junior)

New Officers and a Big Vacancy

At the April 21 General Meeting we introduced a Slate of Officers for the 2014-2015 year. The vote was unanimous for:

President – Gordon Beebe
Vice President – Tiffany Erickson
Treasurer – Kathleen Barker
Recording Secretary – Emily Heaton
Corresponding Secretary – Vacant

We wish to thank the "retiring officers": Susan Kirks who will step down as President but remain on the board as Past-president to help in the transition and Monica Schwalbenberg-Pena as Corresponding Secretary.

The Nominating Committee (Diane Hichwa, Susan Kirks, Gordon Beebe) is grateful to all of the volunteers who offer their time to keep this chapter thriving and active.

GENERAL MEETINGS

No General Meetings in the months of June, July, or August. Enjoy your summer—it will be over only too quickly.

Audubon, organizing activities for International Migratory Bird Day, coordinating the West Sonoma County Christmas Bird Count for the past six years, and coordinating the project for the Sonoma County Breeding Bird Atlas. Her education and conservation efforts have direct impact on injured and orphaned birds as she is Director of Native Songbird Care and Conservation in Sebastopol. 2013 she discovered dead Cliff Swallows in exclusionary netting on the Petaluma River Bridge, which prompted formation of a coalition to take legal action and then corrective action by Caltrans. She has authored an educational pamphlet to help property owners understand how to coexist with swallows.

Helen became a Petaluma Wetlands Alliance (PWA) docent in 2005 and two years later agreed to become the Education Chair, continuing and expanding the third grade schoolchildren wetlands program for all the third grades in the Petaluma River Watershed. This is a monumental task, but Helen's background as a Ph.D. in Child Development Psychology and her professional experience as an educator and facilitator is definitely an asset. She has brought this professional experience to PWA and used it to optimize the quality of material presented in PWA's third grade curriculum. The children who go through the two-day program learn a great deal of wetlands science and are excited about it, often the children's first exposure to science.

Helen has distributed leadership and responsibility in the program and considers her role to be supporting other docents in bringing their particular expertise and skills to the program and the students.

Burridge Award - Hollis Bewley

The Betty Burridge award was established in 2008 to honor Betty's lifetime contributions to citizen science. Fittingly this award recognizes those who contribute to research and education through citizen science; this year Hollis Bewley is the recipient. Hollis has been active on the Sonoma Coast from Bodega to Jenner where she participated in the Black Oystercatcher survey for a population census in CA. She has shared many of her photographs, documenting observations of coastal natural history. Also in the past two years, she has helped start a seabird monitoring program with Stewards of the Coast and Redwoods at sites from Bodega Rock to Jenner. Hollis has trained other volunteers and mentored them as they began their counts. Her enthusiasm for the birds and desire to know more about them is contagious and a great example for the trainees.

Madrone Audubon Special Recognition (previously Friend of Madrone Award) –

Marc Levine, Scott Brodhun, Elaine Pruett, Brian Gaffney, Animal Legal Defense Fund, and Meyer, Glitzenstein & Crystal

This award goes to a business, agency, or contact that has assisted Madrone Audubon Society or the environment in a noticeable way.

Assembly member Marc Levine and his staff successfully legislated into Caltrans' budget approval process the requirement to coordinate plans with conservation organizations prior to nesting season in order to protect migratory birds at the Petaluma Bridges. This innovative process of connecting the Caltrans State Budget approval with improving protection for migratory birds is deeply appreciated by our Madrone Audubon Chapter and the conservation community.

Scott Brodhun, Assistant City Manager and Director of Parks & Recreation for the City of Petaluma, has worked closely with Petaluma Wetlands Alliance to support habitat restoration and wildlife protection. He devoted extraordinary time and energy to facilitate review and approval by the Petaluma City Council to submit the city's five wetland properties for inclusion in the San Francisco Bay/Estuary designation as Ramsar Wetlands of International Importance. Scott is also skilled in negotiating conservation land acquisitions. We recognize Scott as a friend of the environment and a person within government who reflects integrity and fairness. Scott brings these qualities to his work and relationships in the community.

PWA Docent Elaine Pruett championed the native plants, protecting them from the invasive nonnative Yellow Star Thistle (YST) in Shollenberger Park and the Petaluma public wetlands. She thought the YST should be given the highest eradication priority so that restoration would succeed. At daybreak you could find her along the trail with a stool and pockets which held hand tools and pruning bags. Restoration volunteers followed her example by removing the thistle, resulting in a dramatic reduction of YST. Elaine's habitat restoration continued at Shollenberger when she took on the removal of other invasive nonnatives.

Elaine was a team member of the Mayacamas Mountain Sanctuary Stewardship Patrol to remove litter and report vandalism. For many years she recorded bird surveys (see eBird) at Shollenberger, Ellis Creek Wildlife Sanctuary, Tolay Regional Park, and Tolay Creek.

Today Elaine has curtailed some of her activities; however, you can still find her in the early morning attacking Harding Grass seed heads along the Shollenberger trail.

Brian Gaffney, Esq. initiated the legal process related to the Cliff Swallow deaths at the Petaluma River Bridge. Mr. Gaffney's expertise and expedient actions helped set in motion a legal pathway that was able to be continued by the coalition. We are grateful for his and his staff's expertise and assistance.

The two law firms, Animal Legal Defense Fund (Danny Lutz, Esq. and Carter Dillard, Esq.) and Meyer, Glitzenstein & Crystal (Eric Glitzenstein, Esq.), led the coalition of Veronica Bowers, Native Songbird Care & Conservation, Madrone, Marin and Golden Gate Audubons, and the Center for Biological Diversity in filing the Cliff Swallows lawsuit against the Federal Highway Transportation Administration and Caltrans.

Although the injunction to halt work at the Petaluma bridges was not granted, an amendment of the lawsuit to seek additional environmental review for the large nesting colony at the Petaluma bridges (information not included in the original Marin Narrows Highway Widening environmental document) moved through a process to eventual settlement with the defendants. In this settlement, the plaintiffs achieved new standards of exclusion and protection for migratory birds, requirement for close monitoring during construction, and funding for the public and educational outreach. We are deeply grateful to the skilled legal teams for guiding us through a challenging process to an outcome with the potential for new exclusionary methods during bridge construction in California which will afford higher levels of protection for migratory birds.

Madrone Audubon would like to thank the members of the Awards Committee–Susan Kirks, Gordon Beebe, Janeann Erikson, Joannie Dranginis, and Diane Hichwa–for making the final selections and contributing information for this article.

Summer Adventure in the Sierra

13th Annual Mono Basin Bird Chautauqua

June 20-22 at Lee Vining, California

A Chautauqua is an institution that began in the late 19th century to provide higher education opportunities through the combination of lectures, concerts, and public events. Following this tradition, the popular Mono Basin Chautauqua offers over 40 presentations, workshops, field trips, and special events between Friday evening, June 20 and Sunday, June 22.

The Mono Basin encompasses one of California's richest natural areas, stretching from the Sierra Crest to the shores of Mono Lake, with a diverse mix of habitats. Thirty years ago birds became a rallying point for the protection of Mono Lake. Go to www.birdchautauqua.org for more information and registration.

BIRD-A-THON 2014...And the Results Are Mostly In!

by Marcia Johnson, Bird-A-Thon Coordinator

We started out with four teams and ended with five...all very worthy birders. So far, the teams earned $8,410.70 with more to come to support all of our biggest events. These include Christmas Bird Count, Junior Audubon, Lincoln Elementary School Bird Festival, and Audubon Adventures for the 3rd-5th grade students in Sonoma County.

Thank you to all the sponsors, and Tish and Brendan Brown who donated to the cause, for making this possible and the teams who did the work.

"FEATHER QUESTERS": Diane Hichwa was solo this year, but spotted 121 species. It was a nice start at Sea Ranch for Diane, with first-of-the season Purple Martins overhead. At the Gualala River, an otter swam along and a Belted Kingfisher perched on the railing. Rough-winged Swallows were diving every which way, and a Red-breasted Sapsucker was busy at work. Virginia Rails answered Diane's calls from her cell phone at the little ponds along Highways 116 and 1, and one Ross's Goose still hung out with farm geese in Petaluma. Being later than usual in the spring meant hearing the familiar descending song of the Orange-crowned Warblers, the increasingly loud song of the Wilson's, while Hutton's Vireos sang their repeat performance over and over. Grebes, both Eared and Horned, sported breeding plumage colors and fancy feathers. Shollenberger Park had delicate long-legged American Avocets in breeding plumage with a wash of rust along their necks and heads. Ellis Creek nearby had chunky Northern Shovelers feeding. At Crane Creek near their Pressley house, Diane was able to locate the Lewis's Woodpecker, a bird she had not seen in many years. The owls were out there also - a Western Screech Owl called as she went up the driveway, the Great Horned "erked" for food in the night, and Sonoma State still had a Barn Owl persisting, with eight pellets and a fresh mouse below the nesting ledge.

"ROADRUNNERS" with Betty Groce and Don McCarthy completed their Bird-A-Thon February 25th under blue skies. As usual, they started in Betty's yard near Annadel State Park, where they got the best birds of the day. A Pileated Woodpecker called from the park, and all three hummers came to feeders. Betty has been sidelined from birding with severe back pain, so their Bird-A-Thon was done from the car and in-or-near parking areas. She wanted you to know that so you wouldn't think the sky had fallen when they only got 86 species for a full day's effort. Good news--Betty is on the mend.

"MARCH MADNESS" with Gene Hunn and Ron Storey. This new team logged 185 miles over 15 hours, in temperatures up to 80 degrees, for a total of 149 species... wow! March 12 was a great day, starting at 4:30 AM on Adobe Canyon Road they heard a pair of Western Screech Owls, and a Northern Saw-whet Owl strafed Ron's scalp. As dawn arrived, a pair of Northern Pygmy-Owls and Wild Turkeys called from Sugarloaf Ridge State Park. Spring Lake produced Osprey, Green and Blackcrowned Night Herons, Eurasian Collared and Mourning Doves, Acorn, Downy, and Nuttall's Woodpeckers, singing Brown Creepers, Ruby-crowned Kinglets, and Orange-crowned Warblers. On to the Laguna de Santa Rosa and Delta Pond trail for White-tailed Kite, White-throated, Fox, Lincoln, Song, and Golden-crowned rounded out the Sparrows. What was thought to be a Pileated Woodpecker, morphed into a Cooper's Hawk near last year's nest site. Heading west to the Russian River area were Steller's Jays, Violetgreen and Northern Rough-winged Swallows, Varied Thrush, and Wood Duck. From Jenner south, Red-necked Grebe, California and Herring Gulls, Willets, Black Turnstones, a single Whimbrel, more grebes, loons, cormorants, and Brant's Geese were spotted. Midday from Bodega Head produced an immature Harlequin Duck, Surf Scoters, Common Murre, Pigeon Guillemot, Red-throated and Pacific Loons, plus oystercatchers. Continuing on, a House Sparrow at the Tides, and on Smith Brothers' Road 2,000 Marbled Godwits and a mix of shorebirds were added. The town of Bodega produced a flock of Pine Siskins, and on to Gene's for a female Rufous Hummingbird, California Quail, and a Ring-necked Pheasant. At Lucchesi Park, Ring-billed and Thayer's Gulls were added, as well as a Ross's Goose. Shollenberger added a Sora and Virginia Rail, Long-billed Curlews, Killdeer, Blackbellied and Pacific Golden-Plovers, and a Mew Gull. Ellis Creek had Blue-winged, Cinnamon, and Green-winged Teals, Northern Shovelers, Northern Pintails, Tree and Barn Swallows, Northern Harrier, Canvasbacks, Savannah Sparrows and a lone American Pipit. At Hudeman Slough, a Greater Yellowlegs, Longbilled Dowitchers, Bonaparte's Gulls, a Redhead, and Cliff Swallows were seen. Skaggs Island Road added a Loggerhead Shrike and, on the way home, the last bird was a Great Horned Owl.

"GREY-HEADED SEERSUCKERS":

Ken Wilson, Ian Morrison, and Ted Eliot had their big day on March 9th, beginning at 7:00 AM and ending at 7:00 PM for a total of 125 species. The team drove to the coast to catch the receding high tide at sunrise. The not-so-high-tide left plenty of mudflats for them to search on the harbor side of Doran where six species of shorebirds, including Sanderling, Semi-palmated Plover, and large flocks of Dunlin were counted. Other noted birds were a very pretty Eurasian Wigeon, Rednecked Grebe, and three species of loons, many of which were showing signs of alternate plumage. At Bodega Head, a group of Grey Whales were going north, while California Sea Lions swam below. Pelagic Cormorants sported distinctive alternate plumage, while a juvenile male Harlequin Duck showed well amongst many Surf Scoters. Also added were a lone Common Murre along with grebes and gulls. A short stop at Campell Cove brought in a calling Wrentit that alerted them to a passing Peregrine Falcon. The second falcon, an American Kestrel did not show until many hours later. Diekman's Store produced five species of sparrows, including Fox, Song, Lincoln's, White-crowned, and Golden-crowned, plus four species of warbler, Nashville, Orangecrowned, Yellow-rumped, and Townsend's. Also found were several Pine Siskins and a Ruby-crowned Kinglet. Next was Bodega "Farm Pond" where Canvasback plus Tree, Violet-green and Barn Swallows were seen. A flock of American Wigeon made a dramatic "fly-in" before the team left for Carmody Road. The ponds here were too full to provide habitat for shorebirds, but several species of ducks, including Ring-necked, were present. Also seen were Savannah Sparrows, Northern Mockingbirds, and Say's Phoebe. As time was at a premium, there was only one short foray to a forest habitat where Chestnut-backed Chickadee, Dark-eyed Junco, and Varied Thrush were added. The balance of their day was spent at Shollenberger and Ellis Creek in Petaluma. Many gulls, but nothing out of the ordinary was seen, including California, Ring-billed, Western, Glaucous-winged, and an occasional Herring Gull. Blacknecked Stilts and American Avocets were abundant however. The low tide on the southeastern side uncovered new species including Long-billed Curlews, Black-bellied Plovers, Greater Yellowlegs, and a lone Pacific Golden-Plover. White-tailed Kite and Northern Harrier rounded out the search before driving to Ellis Creek, the final stop. The pond closest to the parking lot held Cinnamon Teal and Lesser Scaup with a lone Northern Pintail. A walk around the rest of the ponds did not produce much more, but a willow tree provided food for Lesser and American Goldfinches, the last birds of the day. A "Drone" flying above the ponds, led this team to contemplate the future of the skies.

ZONOTRIPIAS: The team was reduced this year by the loss of one member and the illness of another, resulting in the very lean team of Don Kirker and Bill Doyle. The team started the day at 4:00 AM at the Ellis Creek wetlands, listening for rails. They missed the Black Rail this year but did get the Clapper, Sora, and Virginia. Next stop was Sugarloaf Ridge State Park where they picked up Great-horned, Screech, and Spotted Owls. Onward to Alimos Road, where Mountain Quail, Rufouscrowned Sparrow, Pileated Woodpecker, plus many of the oak woodland birds were counted as dawn broke. And on they went, in a carefully planned look around the center of Sonoma County, getting many great birds, and missing some "easy" ones...the way it always is with the Bird-A-Thon. At the end of day, the duo team was back at Ellis Creek, where they found the two Blue-winged Teal that had been hanging around, plus the many great birds for which the Shollenberger/Ellis Creek public wetlands is famous. As the light was fading, they stopped at Lucchesi Park in Petaluma for the resident Ross's Goose and a very convenient Thayer's Gull. Finally they went to Sonoma State University to look for the always tough Golden-crowned Kinglets and the lingering Hermit Thrushes. As the team walked back to the car in the dark, tired but satisfied, a California Ouail called from the brambles...the first one all day and species bird 152, capping a long and interesting day. Now the Zonotripias are looking forward to next year.

At Last, A Memorial for Doug Ellis

by Diane Hichwa

On Sunday March 30 a gathering and memorial for Doug Ellis was held at the entrance to Alman Marsh in Petaluma located at the Petaluma Marina/Sheraton Hotel. A kiosk and bench now stand there, in Doug's memory.

I remember Doug as an excellent birder, but a bit shy. He was someone who could call Page 6 in owls of all types. It was a surprise to him one evening when nearly 50 people showed up for a Madrone Owling Field Trip with him on Salmon Creek Road. We stayed as quiet as we could while he took it in stride and was able to show us Northern Pygmy-Owl, Saw-whet Owl, Western Screech Owl, Barn Owl, a Spotted Owl called and in came a Great Horned Owl. When Doug had the birds "down pat" he started in on butterfly identification. And Kathy Biggs indicates he knew his dragonflies too! Several long-time friends of Doug were able to attend, and I asked them to share some memories.

Ruth Rudesill knew Doug probably the longest of all of us. She wrote: I first met Doug in 1979, when I was a teenager, while attending a Peter Leveque Condor expedition. (It was awesome that Peter could attend the dedication!...he never seems to age...does he?) Doug lived a few blocks from me, and we became very close friends. We talked several nights a week on the phone and birded together a lot, including several out-of-state trips. We went to Giants baseball games together - baseball was his other love. (At the memorial Dan Nelson was wearing his Giants hoodie in Doug's honor.) Doug and I experienced several flash floods, a tornado in Minnesota, a sudden blizzard in the Sierra, and a break down at Candlestick Park after a night game. We saw many lifers together.

Doug was a top-notch birder, extremely intelligent and was well known for his quick wit. I don't remember ever hearing him swear. He was extremely private but always shared his knowledge with others and participated in many bird counts (he was the Santa Rosa Count compiler for years), surveys, and atlased an insane number of blocks for the FIRST Sonoma County Breeding Bird Atlas.

His untimely death hit me very hard. I'm so glad this Memorial finally happened, as Doug passed away a dozen years ago. Sharing our remembrances was wonderful and tearful too. Thank you.

His owling was legendary - I remember once at Annadel he called in a very angry Northern Pygmy-Owl who raked his head, taking off a cap and scratching his head. Doug was proud of that scar! Doug found many folks their "lifer" owls of all local species.

His wit was also legendary - Richard Merriss recounted some of Doug's spoonerisms: "Bitter Americans" for American Bitterns, "See da Waxwing?" for Cedar Waxwing, Willetor "won't it", Moc-Kingbird; he started off many bird trips with his "Walkthis way" and would fake a limp ala Monty Python or Igor in Young Frankenstein (Doug was also a film fan).

We also thank Peter Colasanti for his craftsmanship in building the kiosk and bench.

We hope you will stop by and rest a while...

Madrone's New Membership Chair

We welcome Elizabeth Gould as our new Membership Chair. Elizabeth has a deep connection to nature and a love for birds. She shares with us: "In January 1972, a flock of Cedar Waxwings graced our backyard deciduous peach tree in Davis. Immediately, my Dad's 1941 edition of Petersen's Field Guide appeared, and I was hooked." Elizabeth works with Clos Du Bois winery and enjoys daily walks around the pond. How appealing that her email address is cedarwaxwings@sbcglobal.net. She will begin to assume membership chair responsibilities this summer; her contact information will appear in the September issue of the Leaves.
